

December 30, 2011

To Whom It May Concern:

It is my great pleasure to compose a letter of recommendation for Mr. James Winsor. I had the enjoyment of knowing James as an enthusiastic and passionate graduate student at Holy Family University. He actively participated in the course I instructed, "Management and Instruction of Low Incidence Disabilities." James was in pursuit of his master's degree and certification in Special Education. James possessed the characteristics of a caring educator and life-long learner.

James exuded a disciplined work ethic in order to meet the diverse needs of learners within an inclusive setting. He displayed commitment and sensitivity to the exceptional needs of students through class discussions, while conducting extensive research in the area of the systematic framework of Response to Intervention. James clearly synthesized literature related to his self-selected topic, and firmly articulated findings related to his research.

James employed his philosophical underpinnings within his instructional practices through careful planning, collaboration, and critical thinking skills. James carefully prepared highly interactive and engaging presentations for his colleagues. He used similar skills within his daily interactions with students which would cater to varying learning differences.

James hones ample background knowledge and experience in the evolving areas and demands of special education. I trust that he will be a positive asset to any educational organization.

Yours in education,

Jacqueline D. Daino-Garcia, Ed. D.

jdaino-garcia@holyfamily.edu

267.992.5789